School Board Candidate

Miss Joanne White announces her candidacy for school committee in the town election on March 5.

Miss White is a native of Andover. She resides at 5 Summer Street and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. White. She is a graduate of Andover High School. Presently she is pursuing a career in education at Lowell State College. Miss White is employed locally.

Miss White has worked with minority groups and underprivileged children, teaching English and Spanish. Miss White participated in an Andover elementary school program that assisted students in Spanish and French. She is active in several educational and fraternal organizations.

Miss White believes strongly that the youth of Andover should be represented with a voice on the school committee.

She said:

I believe we should improve communications between the townspeople and the schoolboard. This should be done by informative and concise bulletins mailed to all homes.

Joanne White

I feel Andover should get maximum usage of its large capital investment in school buildings and equipment.

I believe we should adopt drug education programs that have proven successful in other communities.

I believe we should improve discipline in all the schools.

I believe there should be two methods of education. Parents should have a say in either the open concept or the traditional way of learning for their children.

I believe there should be improved communications between students and the schoolboard.

Regan Named Assistant At Salary Of $23,500

Edward P. Regan, principal of Bancroft School, will become second in command of the Andover school system, as assistant superintendent of schools for curriculum and instruction. Regan fills a new post created by the school committee this fall on recommendation of Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert.

The new assistant superintendent was recommended by Dr. Seifert and approved by the school committee Tuesday night.

The new administrator's salary will be $23,500 annually.

Dr. Frank Griggs opposed the election, saying his vote was not against Regan personally, but against administrative cost overload. Seifert, not surprisingly, took the opposite view, claiming that lack of such an administrator had cost the system in communication in coordination of the new programs of the past ten years. Committeeman William Lane reiterated his feeling that it was the personnel manager's salary that was too high.

Regan will be covering his new post, and the Bancroft principalship by March 1. Seifert indicated, operating mostly from the Bancroft principal's office. He expects a new principal to be named by May, with Regan and the new principal working out a smooth transition.

Regan, who has served as principal to half the elementary schools in town, (Shawsheen, Doherty, Bancroft), will wear two hats for a while, as he works into the number two post of a reorganized central school administration.

Shifts this year have included the naming of Edward Well as business manager and Vaughn I. Clapp, former assistant superintendent, as personnel manager. Both will be directly responsible to the assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction. Regan will be directly responsible to the superintendent and act as superintendent in his absence. Several administrators within

Selectmen Respond To FinCom Queries

As local officials, principally the selectmen and Finance Committee continue to discuss the relative merits of a $2.5 million trunk line sewer to the West Andover Industrial area, Hewlett-Packard, Inc., the potential occupant of the area, has announced plans to increase the size of its plant.

Late last week, company representatives announced intentions of constructing a 200,000 square foot plant, rather than the originally projected 150,000 square foot building.

Increased business was given as the reason for its decision.

The selectmen, who unanimously endorse the West Andover proposal and the necessity to expend the funds to make the sewer line connection, have responded to a series of questions offered by the Finance Committee.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin has also produced a set of figures showing the net worth to the town of putting in the sewer line, a requirement of Hewlett-Packard.

Austin, who issued a guideline figure of a six percent annual tax rate increase, projected that the town would benefit greatly by the additional industry.

Over the years the town would be making a 32 cent tax rate investment in the future initially, the manager pointed out, noting that the town would be bearing the costs of sewer construction during the initial two years.

From that point on, the cost, which will be bonded will return substantially more, through the industrial development. The tax return will be greater than the expense.

As for the finance committee questions, the selectmen have reviewed their points of discussion and responded as follows:

Election Key To School Form

Nearly 600 people came to the school committee meeting Tuesday night where Andover Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert stated the case for the system's open, or rather flexible, space policy, and tested the market for the product's consumer appeal.

The market generally was tipped to favorable, judging from audience reaction to very civilized debate, despite the fact that one member of the school's policy board, Dr. Frank Griggs, was chief spokesman for the virtues of running "a flexible program in a contained classroom."

But Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert and William Breckinridge, a Sanborn parent who has reservations about open concept schools, agreed publicly at the meeting that the real decision on the direction of the Andover school system will be made March 5 at the polls, when voters choose two school committeemen from an unusually large field of candidates, including one incumbent.

Breckinridge and Seifert both voiced the hope that candidates would state their positions clearly, so that the voters' choice would have meaning. Dr. Seifert said he was holding action on secondary teachers requests for more flexibility until after the election.

Some steam seems to have escaped from the open concept issue, certainly from the Sanborn "wall removal" issue, which Dr. Griggs said was "a minor case."

Favorable results for Bancroft primary children on the 1971 SAT tests, ranking top or second among Andover schools, was

A. in elementary education. Her application for Massachusetts certification is in process.

Frank Bianco was appointed Director of the Title I 1973 Summer project of Dearjump IV, with his salary dependent on state approval of the project. Bianco, Andover elementary school guidance counselor, developed and has run the Title I project in the three years it has been in existence.

A sum of $1,200,000 has been inserted in the warrant for the project.

Century Pre-School Program Set

In September, 1973, the Century Kindergarten sponsored by the Women's Fellowship of the Trinitarian Congregational Church, North Andover will become known as the Century Pre-school.

With the introduction of public kindergarten in the North Andover School system, there will no longer be as great a demand for private kindergarten facilities. Therefore, The Century Pre-school will conduct a program for three and four-year olds. It is a non-sectarian, non-profit school which operates five mornings a week from 8:45 - 11:45 at the Trinitarian Church on Elm Street. Mrs. Walter Kohl will continue as director of the Century Pre-school with Mrs. Joseph Buturlia assisting. An addition to the teaching staff is planned to allow for a more individual learning experience.

Registrations are now being accepted, and information can be obtained by calling Mrs. R. Jack Howard at 141 Prescott St. or Mrs. Walter Kohl at the Church.

Andover - Merger Th

The thought of merging Andover and North Andover as a single community, as the were, is still intriguing Andover's Selectman Charles Robert A. Watters, who is retiring after ten years on board within the month.

Chairman Watters suggests such a move a little over a year ago and the thought must have been into proposals of many for community mergers and an ultimate seminar among C. Lawrence officials of potential of joining municipal services.

Preparing to conclude many years of service as selectman, committee member and man, Watters this week was still interested in the combining the two Andover towns.

As a parting thought, chairman said he was planning to suggest to his successor on Andover board, (pro) Selectman Roger W. C. that the Andover and North Andover selectmen set up a committee to look into feasibility of such a merger.

Watters said that the chair of both boards in the new will be young. Assu Collins is chairman, he was joined by Joseph Gutierrez, chairman of the North Andover selectmen, which this year have two new members on a three-member board.

Watters sees the appointment of a broad committee to the possibilities as being of a number of alternatives facing governmental leaders in both communities in the ahead as the towns continue to grow.

The Andover selectmen out that the combined population would afford a bargaining position for a community of 10,000 population.

The figure would be making the single area for federal aid which is granted only to regional areas.

He expressed disappointment at the recent redistricting which left Andover with services of a local representative in the state legislature will remain carved up between Lawrence and North Andover the new redistricting approved.

Watters said that could prove beneficial at the state level as well, in current district line example.

He feels the combining two communities "not but as equals," promises advantages for both. has much to offer, he is hopeful that a solid selectmen-appointed merger the towns can come a reality.

The two towns were until 1855, when North Andover became a separate entity. The foundation town were in the North Parish, where the first North Parish, served single town of Andover for years ago.

Andover - No. Andover Merger Thought Renewed

The thought of merging Andover and North Andover into a single community, as they once were, is still intriguing to Andover's Selectman Chairman Robert A. Watters, who will be retiring after ten years on the board within the month.

Chairman Watters suggested such a move a little over a year ago and the thought mushroomed into proposals of many forms of community mergers and an ultimate seminar among Greater Lawrence officials on the potential of joining municipal services.

Preparing to conclude his many years of service to Andover as selectman, finance committee member and chairman, Watters this week said he was still interested in the idea of combining the two Andovers.

As a parting thought, the chairman said he was prepared to suggest to his successor on the Andover board, (probably Selectman Roger W. Collins), that the Andover and North Andover selectmen set up a study committee to look into the feasibility of such a merger.

Watters said that the chairman of both boards in the next year will be young. Assuming Collins is chairman, he would be joined by Joseph Guthrie as chairman of the North Andover selectmen, which this year will have two new members on the three-member board.

Watters sees the appointment of a broad committee to look into the possibilities as being the best of a number of alternatives facing governmental leaders of both communities in the years ahead as the towns continue to grow.

The Andover selectman points out that the combined population would afford a bargaining position for a community of 40,000 population.

The figure would be close to making the single area eligible for federal aid which is now granted only to regional districts.

He expressed disappointment at the recent redistricting plan which left Andover without the services of a local representative in the state legislature. Andover will remain carved up between Lawrence and North Andover in the new redistricting plan if approved.

Watters said that a merger could prove beneficial at the state level as well, noting the current district lines as an example.

He feels the combining of the two communities "not as peers, but as equals," promises the best advantages for both. The plan has much to offer, he feels and is hopeful that a solid study by selectmen-appointed members of the towns can come about.

The two towns were one up until 1855, when North Andover became a separate corporate entity. The foundations of the town were in the North Andover center, where the first church, North Parish, served the once single town of Andover, some 327 years ago.

Robert A. Watters

When Watters made the proposal over a year ago, there was a flurry of interest and debate about the possibilities. It has been lying dormant since that initial suggestion, but Mr. Watters, with an eye to the future, will attempt to keep the possibility alive with his suggestion of the study committee.

As for his years as an Andover official the retiring selectman chairman reports the experience as most gratifying.

He notes that he has seen the town maintain its atmosphere of being a first class residential community, keeping its character of 75 percent residential and 25 percent residential and commercial.

This balance can be maintained Watters asserts, even with complete development of the West Andover industrial park, currently being considered by the Hewlett-Packard Corporation for location of a new plant.

He feels the town has done a good job in the area of meeting its needs as far as a solution to the regional pollution abatement problem.

Locally the construction of the water treatment plant at Haggetts pond is another accomplishment.

He is hopeful that a regional solution will be found soon to the solid waste disposal problems and the long range planning will maintain the community's reputation as first class, honest, desirable community in which to live.

The Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 was signed into law on August 20. The measure provides for work and education programs, loans to low-income farmers and businessmen, and various other national and community antipoverty programs.

FAMOUS PEOPLE was the subject of the study carried out by Judy Mower during the St. Augustine's school project which concluded with exhibits at the school last Thursday.

ANDOVER'S own newspaper since 1887 was researched by Thomas Black in this exhibit of the TOWNSMAN.

ANDOVER ROADS, and their historical significance were covered by Stephen Eulie.

Andover Night Is Observed

"Andover Night," which was held in St. Augustine School proved to be an interesting and enjoyable experience for all who attended. At this time, the junior high students displayed the results of their three-month study of Andover. Among those present on Feb. 1 were many of the new friends that the students have made while researching their various areas of study.

Some of the ways in which the students presented their projects were slides, films, photographs, models and colorful posters.

The students would again like to express their gratitude to all those who gave so generously of their time and materials during this project.

The students feel that they have gained much knowledge and understanding of their town through this study.

He is a 1971 graduate of Andover High School.

Ambassador To Poland

Barbara Frackiewicz, an Andover High School sophomore, is sitting at a desk in a school in Krakow, Poland, today.

A week ago, Barbara had absolutely no idea that she would be in Poland so soon.

The 15-year-old Andover student, daughter of Polish-born Mr. and Mrs. Boguslaw Frackiewicz, 6 Ivanhoe Lane, Andover, is leading off an Andover High School foreign exchange program developed by high school foreign language teachers.

This first exchange sends Barbara to Poland for one semester, then will bring a Polish girl from Krakow to America in the fall, to spend her junior year living with an Andover family, and attending Andover High School.

Because this is a personal, school-to-school and family-to-family program, the cost to the exchange students will be little more than the airplane fare. Mrs. Dorothy Gocłowski, Spanish and Russian teacher at the high school who has led in arranging foreign trips and this exchange, points out that this will make foreign study available to Andover's high school students, regardless of their economic circumstances. Another student exchange is already in the works with a Spanish school and Spanish families.

Barbara's Krakow home is with Mrs. Danuta Ciesielska and her 15-year-old daughter, Marysia. Barbara and Marysia will be classmates at the Liceum Ogólnokształcące in Krakow for the second semester. Fortunately, Barbara already speaks Polish!

After she returns from Krakow this summer, another Polish classmate, Bożena Wisłocka, who speaks English, will come to America to spend a year living and studying here. Barbara's mother, Ursula Frackiewicz, says the family already has received a welcoming letter from Bożena's mother, very reassuring to an Andover mother who has just sent her tenth grade daughter off to East Europe for at least five months!

Several families already have asked to host Bożena for next year, according to the high school. The Polish student will have the advantage next fall of already having a known Polish-speaking friend here, in Barbara. And there's always Mrs. Gocłowski, who was also brought up in a Polish-speaking home.

Chief qualifications of the American and Polish students are their competence in the foreign language, excellent academic records, and the conviction of the students and their families that the foreign student exchange is an educational opportunity. For the schools too, Andover language teachers would say.

And Andover High hopes to start reaping some benefits even before Barbara comes back with a Polish classmate to give Andover students a window into life in an eastern European state. When Barbara left Andover, she took a supply of slide film, tapes and a tape recorder sent along by the high school, so that she could record and send back her impressions, for school use.

Students in the Russian Club also donated $100 toward the trip's expense, earned last December in their joint Christmas wreath selling project with the Ecology Club. The two clubs joined for the effort, then split the profits to use for the club purposes of each.

Andover's 15-year-old ambassador to Poland, a graduate of East Junior High only last year, had just three days' notice to pack when the requested visa came through in record time, earmarked for last Monday's weekly flight to Warsaw.

But the seeds of the exchange had been laid last June in

Barbara Frackiewicz

Krakow, on the first trip to the Soviet Union and satellite states, just after the end of school.

In Krakow, Mrs. "Gogo," the organizer of the high school's Spanish and Russian trips, suggested the idea of a student exchange to a Polish educator, Dr. Zyczkowska, who gave the Andover students a warm welcome, provided them with student escorts to school, parties, Polish homes. Dorothy Gocłowski had met Dr. Zyczkowska when the Polish woman was studying in America, on a fellowship to the University of Massachusetts. One gets the feeling that Mrs. Gocłowski never lets go of a foreign contact that might benefit her students, and never lets the friendship lie idle long! So the Polish educator and her husband, a university professor, started the official wheels rolling in Krakow and Warsaw, and looked for the right student, while the Andover teacher did the same when she returned.

"We're very lucky we had any Polish speaking students, so this could go forward, and we're lucky in Barbara's case," she says. "Barbara and her family visited Poland two summers ago, and have friends and relatives in Krakow and other parts of Poland."

Barbara's mother and father say they both were forced to leave Poland during World War II. "I was lucky to spend part of the war in India," says Ursula Frackiewicz, "where I studied in an English school." In 1947 she came to America, and to Boston, via San Francisco.

Boguslaw Frackiewicz, now an engineer at Bell Lab, came to Boston going around the world to the west. During World War II, he was captured by the Germans in 1944. Held in a prisoner of war camp in Germany until war's end, he stayed in that country as a student, then came to America, and to Boston, in 1950.

TIM RETIRES. If the TOWNSMAN seems a bit different today, there's a reason. Timothy Zembrski, who has been in charge of distributing the papers for more years that one cares to remember, retired this past week. Tim was honored last Thursday night at Arthur's Town House in Lawrence and received the good wishes of Mrs. Bertha Folley of the TOWNSMAN, to whom he reported faithfully every Thursday.

Project Adventure To Be At High School

Outward Bound principles are coming to the high school this spring in Project Adventure - a new outdoor physical education for all sophomore boys and girls.

The sophomores soon will be boosting each other over walls, balancing on beams, climbing 50-foot rope ladders, and other challenging endeavors that many won't think they can do, - until they find themselves doing them. The aim is to increase the sense of personal competence, and a sense of responsibility for others, as well as physical agility and coordination.

After two years of investigation and study, the high school is becoming a participating member of Project Adventure, based at Hamilton - Wenham High School. The program is federally funded at this core school on condition that Hamilton - Wenham share its expertise, special staff, resources and high quality outdoor and camping equipment with member schools.

The program will involve expeditions, as well as the ropes course and other obstacles of the Initiative Course. This apparatus, by the way, will be constructed and set up at the high school by the Industrial Arts department, which will be involved with Project Adventure.

Science and social studies disciplines will be very much involved with Project Adventure, according to Physical Education Director Richard Swift, who is coordinating arrangements. He said a weekend expedition would have specific tasks - for example, testing the water pollution in a stream or river. Hamilton - Wenham schedules Project Adventure trips in to Boston, as well as to the woods, and here social studies are integrated with the project. An outdoor trip in the vicinity of a Maine fishing village, Swift remarked, could carry with it the task of learning the geography and history of the town.

Next winter, Swift expects that outdoor activities involving snowshoeing and cross-country skiing will be part of the A.H.S. Project Adventure and will expand students' outdoor recreation options.

Interest and support of the high school faculty are crucial to the success of Project Adventure, according to Robert Lentz, Hamilton - Wenham's Project Adventure leader. Andover sent faculty members Richard Bourdelais, James Carroll, Richard Collins, Suzanne Shaw and Richard Swift to a Hamilton - Wenham exercise, with students Wayne Deacon, Carol Maynard and Nelson Torres, when the program first came under serious study.

All turned in strongly favorable reports of the program and its emphasis on decision making, problem solving and meeting of challenges. "I can see tremendous possibilities for in such a program for a school system that is willing to commit itself," Collins reported. "It gets a little bit away from a 'do your own thing' philosophy. There is nothing wrong with the latter, but it does lead to frequent 'copping out' when something looks a bit tough or involves a little work. This program is a lot like life, which means you can't always take the easy road."

Phillip Wormwood, principal, said the high school only committed itself to the program after it was supported by all department heads.

As for Wormwood, he was initiated to the concepts of Outward Bound several years ago with a few other principals when he was dangling at the end of a rope over a cliff at Hurricane Island, the Outward Bound School supporting Project Adventure in Boston-area schools. Wormwood remarks that you learn something about fear and something about trust when you are rappelling down a sheer cliff over a quarry, dependent on the man who is holding the other end of your rope up at the cliff edge.

Patrons

Dr. Rolle May, professor of psychology at New York University will be the speaker in the Christian Culture Lecture Series at John Hancock Hall, 180 Berkeley St., Boston, Monday, March 5 at 8:15 p.m. on the subject, "The Courage to Create."

Dr. and Mrs. Edmund P. Quinn of North Andover are among the patrons of the Christian Culture Lecture series.

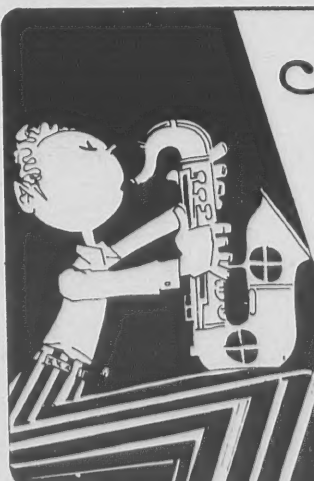

HIGH SCHOOL'S PROJECT ADVENTURE program will put sophomore boys and girls through Initiative Course of Outward Bound obstacles like this, which challenges team to get all its members up and over the wall.

Knights Tourney Qualifiers

By William F. Lafond

It is nothing new to the Knights in their qualifying for the state tournament this basketball season.

This is their 12th year of qualifying in the last 13 years under the guidance of Coach Bob Licare. The only year that they missed it (63-64) was due to a technicality. The Knights this year are 12-0 overall and 11-0 in the Cape Ann League, winning 26 in a row in that league over a two year stretch.

"We have been tough, and we will be tough to stop," stated Coach Robert Licare. "We got by the tough ones, Ipswich, and Hamilton - Wenham. Both of these were pressure packed contests right down to the last seconds. They were testers, which I expected, and I think it helped this team immensely."

There are five games remaining on the Cape Ann schedule. Then the East - West Championship game in the league comes up on Feb. 23 at the East winners home court. It probably will be played at Hamilton - Wenham unless Ipswich can upset them on Hamilton - Wenham's court. Due to this decision to play on the East winners court the Knights will have to play even harder to win the championship for the second consecutive year.

Bill LaBelle keeps rolling along as the top area scorer averaging 23 per game. Andy Breen and Dave Leach keep pounding the offensive and defensive boards. Will Uttley, Dick Licare, Don Brasseur and Bill St. Cyr keep setting up the action.

In the State Tourney the Knights could be facing such teams as Stoneham, Rindge

Tech, Winthrop, Swampscott, and Bedford, who are very tough. Stoneham, who beat the Knights 66-48 in the first game of the State Tournament last year, has their two top players of a year ago returning, as well as the overall depth and balance.

On Friday night, Feb. 23, North Andover should face Hamilton -

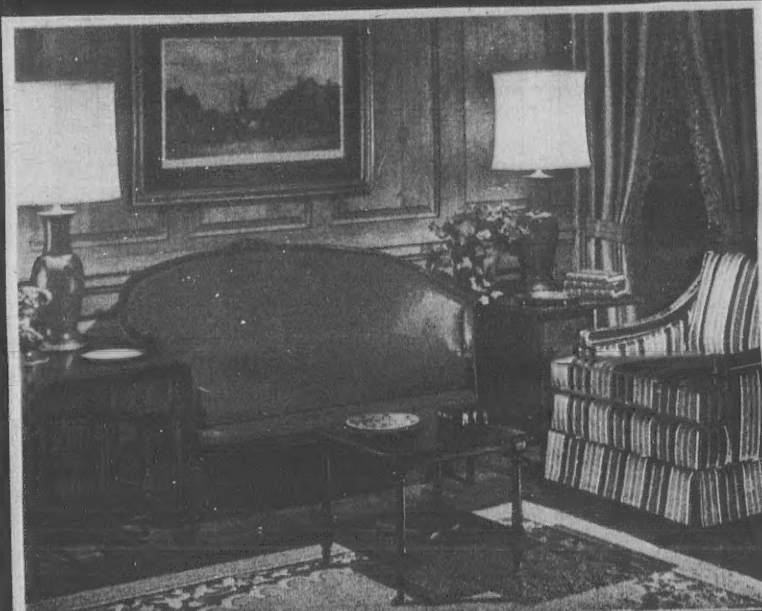

Wenham in the Cape Ann League East - West Championship game. to be played at Hamilton - Wenham. This game shapes up to be one of the most thrilling games ever to be played in the Cape Ann League.

The giant (nine-inch)

ON DISPLAY. Models of the proposed renovations at Doherty and Shawsheen schools are currently on display at the Doherty school. Here, Maurice Ferris, fourth grade teacher, explains some of the new educational areas to Kordel Runger, Joanne McEwen and Douglas Kirkland.

Fitness Scores Reported

Richard L. Swift, physical education director of the Andover School System is reminding parents of secondary school students that the Physical Education Informative Report Cards will be sent home with the academic report cards.

Accompanying the card will be a model of fitness and motor development. This will guide both the student and parent in understanding the level of fitness of the student compared with other students of the same age level. The fitness score is an average of seven tests. The American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation Youth Fitness Test includes:

1. Pull-ups - evaluation for arm and shoulder strength.
2. Sit-ups - evaluating abdominal and hip flexor muscles.
3. Shuttle run - evaluating speed and change of directions.
4. Standing Broad jump - evaluating explosive power of the legs.

5. 50 Yd. Dash jump - evaluating speed.
6. Softball throw - evaluating skill and coordination.
7. 600 Yd. run and walk - evaluating cardiovascular efficiency.

The three basic components of fitness are (1) Muscular strength; the ability of the muscles to do heavy work such as lifting large objects, etc. (2) Muscular endurance; the ability of muscles to perform heavy work over a period of time and (3) Circulatory - Respiratory endurance; ability of large muscles groups to perform for a relatively long period of time with the circulatory and respiratory systems adjusting to the activity.

Obviously we all need and require these components to some degree to function in our daily lives.

Motor development is the acquisition of movement skills one learns. An example, students learn large muscle activities before small muscle activities, or large ball skills before small ball skills. The Andover Physical Education Department has developed motor development tests for students to determine their coordination, balance and agility.

The report card will give the student an indication of their skill level in various activities as well as their healthy habits, interests and enthusiasm for physical activity, cooperation, and leadership within the Physical Education domain.

It is hoped that each student will explain the results to their parents.

If there are any questions, please contact your child's Physical Education Instructor.

DENTAL HEALTH is stressed by James Doherty, teacher, to a group of students at Bancroft school.

Dental Health Stressed

National Children's Dental Health Week is being observed this week in the Andover Schools.

This week is celebrated nationwide, and is sponsored by the American Dental Association.

The Dental Health Program in the Andover Schools is a year round one, including Kindergarten through grade 12. It is primarily a preventive program to encourage desirable dental health habits through education and experience.

In the Andover dental health education program, much attention is devoted to the individual instruction of children in the proper procedure of good oral hygiene.

This year a pilot Dental Program was instituted at the fourth grade level. Three Andover dentists, Dr. Bernard Daly, Dr. Stephen Halem and Dr. Thomas Swift offered their time to give the course, assisted by the two school hygienists and the two Health aides.

It is hoped that observing Dental Health week in the schools will make Andover parents more aware of the importance of their children's Dental Health.

Grace Ferrill, Regional Director of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, Boston, and Barbara Schram, community organizer and social worker, a doctoral candidate at the Harvard University School of Education, will discuss changing work roles of women, the problems of filling a double role, the opportunities available to women now, and how to take advantage of them. Resource people will participate in discussion groups, and personal input of women coming to the conference is termed most important. Individual problems and concerns can be taken up.

A "brown bag lunch" is suggested. Ideas of the workshop can be sifted and developed during the break. A panel of speakers will assess and evaluate the program objectives after lunch, and respond to specific issues raised.

Registration forms for the Conference on Women Returning are available at the Memorial Hall Library.

Another February Women's Center program at Memorial Hall Library will be a program on "Women and Doctors," Feb. 28, 8 - 10 p.m. Dr. Margaret Wacks, resident in pathology at Mount Auburn Hospital will discuss "the problems that arise between women and doctors: what you should require of your doctor, and what you should be able to expect him to tell you."

Decoupage Feature For Guild

Decoupage, the art of coloring, cutting and assembling paper on surfaces according to individual design, will be demonstrated by one of its leading exponents, Miss Joyce Cooper, at the Andover Artists Guild meeting on Sunday, Feb. 11, 2:30 p.m. at the Bay State National Bank.

Miss Cooper, whose works have been exhibited widely and marketed by leading specialty stores, including Tiffany's of New York, specializes in 18th Century decoupage. She is a former student of Hiram Marring, "the master of decoupage," and a graduate of the Patricia Ninock Seminar for Advanced Decoupage.

Recently Miss Cooper enjoyed the distinction of being the only New Englander invited to exhibit at the Mid-Continental Decoupage Show in Dearborn, Mich., and during the spring of '72 had a three week show at the Wenham Museum.

Miss Cooper teaches at her studio in Lawrence and gives courses at the Needham Arts and Crafts Association, and the North Andover Education program. She is a charter member of the New England Guild of Decoupeurs and belongs to the National Guild of Decoupeurs.

Sizer Writes

Theodore R. Sizer

The "reform" of American schools doesn't happen because the people don't want it to happen, says Theodore R. Sizer in his new book, Places for Learning. Places for Speculations on American School Reform, to be published by Harvard University Press, 19.

The headmaster of Phillips Academy, Andover, and former dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Education, Mr. Sizer points out that while critics deplore the schools' resistance to change, the lack there simply due to the fact that Americans are satisfied with schools as they are. It is satisfaction more than any factor that makes them resistant to "reform" a social institution.

Even as the public is impatient in wanting schools prepare children for the future while inculcating only the values of the past, Mr. Sizer yet the ends traditionally assigned formal education to be useful: the development of intellectual skills; the learning of a sense of "agency" or confidence, a charitable, prejudiced disposition, a willingness to work and one's share of social responsibilities; and the cultivation of "joy." These fundamental public expectations may be changed today. There may be a chance to improve the educational system for children if reformers take these existing public

At Schaefer Stadium it's a whole new ball game.

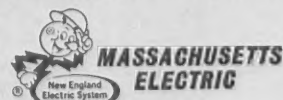

When you plug in a place like Schaefer Stadium, it's a whole lot different than flipping on the family television set. It takes a powerful lot of energy.

The new home of the New England Patriots professional football team in Foxboro, Massachusetts used 1.8 million kilowatt hours during its first year.

That's enough to run all the lights, refrigerators, ranges, washers, dryers and other appliances in 360 homes for a whole year!

New construction like this will mean new additions for us, too, if we are to provide the kind of facilities it will take to meet these growing demands and satisfy our mutual environmental concerns. Like we say, it's a whole new ball game... and it will take teamwork to win it.

Sizer Writes On Reform

Theodore R. Sizer

The "reform" of American schools doesn't happen because the people don't want it to happen, says Theodore R. Sizer in his new book, Places for Joy: Speculations on American School Reform, to be published by Harvard University Press, Feb. 19.

The headmaster of Phillips Academy, Andover, and former dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Education, Mr. Sizer points out that while critics may deplore the schools' resistance to change, the lack thereof is simply due to the fact that most Americans are satisfied with schools as they are. It is this satisfaction more than any other factor that makes them as resistant to "reform" as any social institution.

Even as the public is inconsistent in wanting schools to prepare children for the future while inculcating only the values of the past, Mr. Sizer yet finds the ends traditionally assigned to formal education to be useful and noble: the development of intellectual skills; the learning of a sense of "agency" - self-confidence, a charitable, unprejudiced disposition with a willingness to work and carry one's share of society's responsibilities; and the capacity for "joy." These are fundamental public expectations today. There may be a chance to improve the educational process for children if reformers build on these existing public expectations - which are part and parcel of public satisfaction - rather than assaulting the status quo. Significant improvement of schools will happen only if the public's biases, however confused and often ill-informed, are used as a point of departure.

Mr. Sizer suggests that different "schools" could be created to serve the three overlapping, but nonetheless different "expectations," and youngsters could go to several "schools" at once, their neighborhood schools primarily for skill training, and elsewhere for the ends of "agency" and "joy." Many latter such "schools" can be found outside traditional educational settings, in art and musical groups, community and social services, athletics, apprenticeships, and in business. This kind of activity can take place in short, intensive time periods, even in residential settings.

Many middle-class children enjoy variegated learning experiences as a matter of course. Why not all children?

Mr. Sizer also points out that the creation of "multiple" schools could provide a partial answer to the "busing" controversy: while the local school to which a child was sent would enroll only the children of the neighborhood, a "school" devoted to "agency," which could be focused primarily on matters of citizenship and of values and which a student attended intensively perhaps but several days a month, could be race - and class - "mixed." In sum, a child could attend "segregated" and "integrated" schools simultaneously.

This controversial book by a leading educational authority has been adopted by the Library of Contemporary Education Book Club as a dual selection, and will be used in the Grade Teacher Book Club as an alternate selection.

Bullets Capture Lead Spot

By Steve and Glen Brody

The Bullets became the intermediate division leaders by virtue of their victory over the Celtics and the Knicks loss to the Hawks. In the Pee-Wee league the second place Tigers crushed the league leading Cougars.

The cellar dwelling Dolphins edged the third place Panthers 12-6 behind the hot shooting of Steve Goodman who had three ringers. Karl Reinker, Mike McDonald and Vincent Keegan each tossed in a hoop. Good defensive work was displayed by Victor Nikonchuk, Mark Souter, and Jim Kolarik. For the Panthers Mike Muldoon layed in 4 points, and Cris Witt fired in a bucket. Robyn Brody, Joe Hale and Dave Gusmini all passed well.

The Tigers upset the Cougars 20-6 as Capt. Dave Nardone led all scorers with 12 points. Also putting the ball in the basket were Mike Yuska with 6 and Mark Newton with 2. Jim Burgess, Steve Adiconis, Eric Nolin, Rich Gusimini, Jim Driscoll and Walter Hughes rebounded well. The Cougars scorers were Bob Wilkins, Dave Carrigan and Gary Rousseau with two big ones each. Guy Nicholas, Ira Gold, Rich Sambuco, Keith Olsen, Glen Rousseau and Yelle had some fine assists.

The Junior Division held a foul shooting contest and the winner was Dave Farrell with 33 out of a possible 50 for an average of 66 percent. Jeff Bragdon and Owen Keegan finished second and third respectively with 32 and 29 out of 50. Kevin Muldoon and Eric Sullivan also shot well.

In the Intermediate Division, the Trailblazers crushed the Bucks 46-27 with a very balanced attack. Mitch Rousseau zinged in 12 points, Dave Mirisola and Gary Schneider had 10 each, Jeff Smith drilled in 8, while Jim Morin and John Steen gunned in 4 and 2 points. The losers were led by George Bragdon's 16, Bruce Slovin's 5, Kevin Kenny's 4 and Bob Muldoon's 2.

The Knicks were knocked out of first by the Hawks by the score of 45-38. Leading the Hawks were Fred Rau with 18 and Randy Hayman with 14. Other scorers for the winners were Rick Collins with 10 and Tom Luceri with 4, while Dan Rush, Dan Ackroyd, and Scott Hill led a hustling defense. The Knicks scorers were Bob Murry with 10, Paul VonSacken, Glen Brody and Dana Cohen each poured in 8, while Ray Rau tossed in 4 points. Tom Sambuco played and hustled well.

The Bullets moved into first place by topping the Celtics 41-37. Leading the Bullets was Bill Emmert with 19 points. He was followed by Mike Witt's 10 points, Mark Conlon's 6, Dave Wilson and Brendan Reilly had 5 points apiece, and Matt Mirisola hustled well. For the Celtic's Scott Hammer tossed in 17, big Mike Issenberg fired in eight baskets and Matt Billings flipped in 4 points, as Carl Wetterberg grabbed some key rebounds.

Next week's action features the Junior Division play-offs with Villanova facing Jacksonville for fifth place, and U.C.L.A. facing Cornell for seventh at 1:30. At 2:30 Notre Dame plays Ohio State for third and Nebraska takes on Oklahoma for the top spot.

Garrett Production Set

"A Hatful of Rain," a play about an American family disrupted by one member's secret vice, will be the next attraction at the Garrett Theatre to take place on Feb. 16, 17, 18, 23, 24 and 25.

Written by Michael Gazzo, "A Hatful of Rain" dramatizes the heartbreak of a tender wife, a compassionate brother and an uncomprehending father as they helplessly watch the disintegration of a young husband victimized by an insidious drug habit.

All are concerned that the young man is sullen and uncommunicative and has lost four jobs in a row. His pregnant wife is concerned because he stays out all night trying to raise money for more drugs - to her this means another woman. His loyal brother, who alone has knowledge of the terrible truth, has become virtually bankrupt in supplying the boy with money. His unperceptive father feels both boys have failed him when he needs financial help.

The underlying cause of the tragedy comes to light when the guilty secret is uncovered. The boy, a war hero, picked up the habit while in the hospital. The father, in farming his sons out to unhappy foster homes in their childhood, had unwittingly caused his favorite son's weakness, but now lacks the understanding to realize that he is to blame.

Gary Gregory of North Reading will appear as the anguished central figure fallen prey to a cold-blooded gang of dope-pushers. The role of the valiant wife trying to save her marriage will be portrayed by Kathy (Katrina) Hassey of North Andover, while Jack Neary residing in Lowell enacts the part of the long-suffering brother, and Paul E. Hart of Methuen will play the bewildered father. Terry Ireland of Lawrence, Jimi Voisine of Lawrence, Bob Colter of North Andover and Jon Fionte of Lawrence are cast as the brutal members of a dope ring and Lucy Coco of Methuen as their depraved woman accomplice.

The drama will be directed by Peg Ireland of Lawrence and assistant directed by Cynthia Leuders of Salem, N.H. Set Designer will be Terry Ireland.

"A Hatful of Rain" will be presented at Bavarian Hall, 41 Knox St., Lawrence, curtain goes up at 8:30 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and 6:30 p.m. on Sundays.

DeLisio Sculptures On Exhibit

Literary Figures, sculptures in bronze by Michael DeLisio, will be exhibited at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy, Andover, beginning Feb. 2, and will continue until March 4, it was announced by Christopher G. Cook, director.

The exhibition will feature a recently completed large work - Shakespeare and Company - a romantic evocation of Sylvia Beach's famous Paris bookshop of the 1920's, with such celebrated habitués as Hemingway, Joyce, Scott Fitzgerald, T. S. Eliot, Ezra Pound, Paul Valéry and André Gide.

Other sculptures to be shown include Ezra Pound leaving St. Elizabeth's Hospital; Oscar Wilde in America; Henry James; Aubrey Beardsley; Verlaine and Rimbaud; Charles Baudelaire; Edgar Allan Poe; Robert Louis Stevenson; W. H. Auden; Vladimir Nabokov; Gertrude Stein and Janet Flanner.

A native of New York City, DeLisio has had one-man shows of his work at the Nova Scotia College of Art, Halifax, Hanover Gallery, London, Minneapolis Institute of Arts. He is represented in the Joseph H. Hirshhorn Collection; Christ Church, Oxford; Minneapolis Institute of Arts; Wichita Art Museum, Long Beach, Long Beach, California Museum of Art, The Vaillima Foundation, as well as in numerous private collections.

Of his Literary Figures, Anthony M. Clark, Director of the Minneapolis Institute of Arts, wrote: "They are frozen studies - not lavishly naturalistic, but abbreviated summaries of moods capturing each subject in an unguarded moment with a minimum of (highly refined) detail. A curious, but sympathetic strain of humor pervades them all. Applied to the most sophisticated of modern authors, DeLisio's artistic position is fascinating as well as delightful."

Music To Our Ears

By Edward P. Grigoli

The subject or theme is the central thought of a play. The theme may be a particular story which the playwright wishes to tell, perhaps the story of a real happening; or it may be a lightly imaginative combination of topics based upon the background and experience of the playwright.

The purpose in listing the materials of the playwright is simply to suggest that all of the bases of drama lie about the playwright in life itself. Drama differs from life in its method of handling the material. In creating a work of art, the playwright like other artists works his materials with a special set of tools and follows a universal artistic process.

The tools of the playwright are dialogue and action: Whether the playwright writes on a scratch pad with a blunt pencil or on the finest bond with a typewriter, his mind is elsewhere. Unlike the novelist or poet, the printed page of the playscript is merely a step in the ultimate production of the play. The mind of the playwright is concentrated upon the sight and sound emanating from a stage. He is creating living drama.

Plays are written in the form of conversation, conversation of characters with others and occasionally with themselves. While the dialogue must give the illusion of reality, of having actually occurred, of being spoken for the first time, it is actually highly artificial in form. The playwright uses vivid, colorful, expressive conversation to project his story, his situations, and his characters. Through dialogue, the playwright integrates the background necessary to the understanding of characters. A playwright who can use the tool of dialogue effectively is considered a master.

conditions keep him from hunting deer. A healthy wolf has never been known to attack man.

Wolves are accused of killing large numbers of deer and caribou. However, they kill only the weak and unfit.

They keep down populations that could out graze a farmer's stock. Think of the hunters who kill the best of the herd and usually only take the head for a trophy!

In particular, we are concerned with the slaughter of wolves in Minnesota, Alaska and Quebec. They are killed only to satisfy hunters and the fur industry.

Dr. Cormier To Address Parents

According to Dr. Gertrude Cormier, Director of the Lawrence Educational Center, parents have a right to know how they should help their children who have learning disabilities.

On Monday, Feb. 12 she will give a talk before the Merrimack Valley Association for Children with Learning Disabilities entitled "What parents can do for their learning disabled children."

Dr. Cormier will give specific steps that can be taken by the parents to get the needed knowledge and then to use that knowledge, in close cooperation with what is being done at the schools, by actually becoming part of the act in helping their own children. She feels that there must be close cooperation between the home and the school and that the schools and others must take some additional leadership in parent training.

The organization also held a board of directors meeting recently at the home of Association president, Stanley Saba, 144 Lovejoy Road, Andover. Board members are: Mrs. Edith Sanborn, Mrs. Barbara Mitton, Mrs. Adena Cicione, Thomas Kelly, Jr., Mrs. Nancy D Deacon, Mrs. Martha Eaton, Mrs. Tess Fragala, Mrs. Mary Kelly, Mrs. Maureen Lawton, Arthur Melanson, Mrs. Margaret O'Connor, Mrs. Dorothy Page, Martin Sanborn and Robert Sanborn.

President Saba, who is also head of the membership committee, discussed the public awareness campaign. He feels that it is important to educate the public to the importance of this problem, which can have such long-term effects, and also, to have parents of L.D. children join with others in the effort by attending, learning and being a part of the organization. Mr. Saba pointed out that there is much being done at the state and national level and membership backs up that effort.

The Feb. 12 meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the Ballard Vale United Church, corner of Clark Road and Hall Ave., Andover. There will be a question and answer period and, following that an opportunity to talk with professionals and experienced parents over coffee.

of third place with an easy 51-20 romp over Free, and West Parish C hit the victory column by trimming South, 51-33.

West Parish A jumped to a quick 4-0 lead in the first minute of its game against St. Augustine, but the defending champs chipped away and closed to within 12-11 after the first quarter.

Mark Davey was the big spark for West, hitting eight points from 20 feet away in the right corner. The St. Augustine attack was well-balanced, and the victors stayed close by converting seven free throws.

John Fox poured in 10 points and helped John Zemis and Kurt Reming control the boards in the second stanza, as St. Augustine held an 18-10 scoring bulge to grab a 29-22 halftime lead.

Two quick buckets at the start of the second half vaulted St. Augustine to a 33-22 lead, but West A outside-shot artist Paul Von Sacken began to bomb away and bring his team back into contention.

West A finished the quarter with a 12-5 scoring bulge, squaring the game at 34-34 entering the fourth period.

Both teams netted seven points in the final quarter of regulation time, keeping it tied at 41-41. Guard Tim Meyers swished four points to lead St. Augustine, but it was Billy Martin of West who sent the game into overtime with a buzzer-beating lay-up.

West Parish lost much of its offensive firepower when starters Bob Murgia, Mark Davey and Glen Brody fouled out during the two extra periods.

The first overtime saw the rivals notch five points apiece to keep it deadlocked at 46-46. Kurt Reming had three points and Meyers two for St. Augustine. Martin, Davey and VonSacken did the West scoring.

John Zemis came alive for seven points in the second overtime, and that was the bulk of the damage as St. Augustine held an 11-8 scoring advantage to post the hard-earned victory.

VonSacken flipped in six points during the second overtime session for the losers.

Kurt Reming and John Zemis shared high point honors for the league-leaders with 16 apiece. John Fox was a step behind with 15 points, while Tim Meyers canned 8 and Shawn Reming had one basket.

Also contributing to the winners' effort were Joe L'Italien, Paul Rindone and Mark Moriarty.

Paul VonSacken captured game-high honors with 23 points. Mark Davey tossed in 14 and Bill Martin added 10 as the other West players in double digits. Bob Murgia had 3 points, Glen Brody 2 and Ray Rau 2 points. Dana Cohen and Tom Comparato also played well for the losers.

It took St. Robert's one quarter to get untracked, but after it did there was no contest as Free Church fell, 51-20. It marked the third straight win for St. Robert's, now 3-2 overall.

The game was tied 8-8 at the close of the opening period, but St. Robert's led 24-12 at the half and 42-14 after three quarters.

Joe Terrior and John Weitz pumped in 14 points apiece for the red-hot winners. Mark Scammons delivered 8 points, Ken LaFleur 6 points, Tom Saunders 5 and Larry Weitz four points.

Dave LaFleur contributed some timely rebounds for the St. Robert's quintet.

Jack Manning and Mark Hamilton fired through 8 points each for Free. Dan King completed the attack with 4 points, while other standouts were Bill Carver and Lamont Rodgers.

West Parish C rallied in the second half, overcoming South Church behind the sharp-shooting of Bruce Slovin.

South had taken a 12-6 lead after one period and a 20-16 advantage at halftime. But West C stormed ahead 34-29 in the third quarter and never looked back.

Slovin had a big night with 24 points, including 18 in the second half when West C really opened it up.

Teammate Bob Zwicker also cracked twin figures with 10 points. Andy Campbell tossed in 7 points, Carl Wetterberg 4 points and single baskets were chalked up by John Lee, Chris Elliott and Bitler.

Tom Kenney stuffed 15 points for South, and John Kilgo chipped in with 12 for the bulk of the losers' scoring. Dave Yagmoorian had 3 points, Russ Glines 3, Mark Howe 2 and Craig Harrison one charity toss.

Trotters Remain Undefeated

The Globetrotters remained undefeated, and one game ahead of St. Robert's 1, following last week's action in the Junior Division of the Andover Church Basketball League.

The Trotters, composed of boys from West Parish and St. Augustine churches, boosted their perfect record to 5-0 with a 10-2 victory over the Superstars.

Robin Brody led the offensive attack once again with 6 points, while Donald Green and Mark Newton popped in single baskets for the Globetrotters.

Ed L'Italien scooped in 2 points for the 'Stars.

St. Robert's 1, whose only loss came last week to the Trotters, trimmed the Tigers 6-2 this time around.

Howie Lebowitz and Eric Fredette netted 2 points apiece for St. Robert's, and one of the Tigers' players helped out by sinking a field goal in the wrong basket for two more St. Robert's markers.

Brian Moriarty fired through the lone two-pointer for the Tigers.

St. Robert's 2 lifted its record over the .500 mark with a tight 8-

The losers' attack was sparked by Dale Lattanzia with 4 points and Jimmy Dwyer with 2 markers.

Warriors Holding To Top

By Rick Harrison

They're heading down the all-important homestretch, and the red-hot Andover High hockey team is four lengths ahead of its nearest competitor in the race for the Merrimack Valley Hockey League title.

The Golden Warriors, in search of their first MVHL championship, opened up more first-place daylight last week with a pair of crucial victories over arch-rival Billerica and cellar-dwelling Austin Prep.

Coach Dick Valle's pucksters blanked Billerica 3-0 behind the standout goaltending of Dave Hubbell, giving the AHS skipper his first victory over the Indians in three years.

Austin Prep fell 7-2, hanging on in the early stages before Andover's overall manpower wore the Cougars down.

Entering yesterday's action at the Billerica Forum, Andover was riding a 10-game unbeaten string with a 9-1-2 overall record.

The only teams with a prayer of catching the Warriors for the title are Billerica (7-2-3) and Wilmington (6-2-3).

In addition, Andover may have already clinched an Eastern Mass. Tournament (Division II) berth after yesterday's competition.

The Warriors faced Wilmington after TOWNSMAN presstime, and needed only a victory or tie to nail down the post-season tourney spot.

Andover 3, Billerica 0 - Andover scored once in each period, and Dave Hubbell didn't concede anything to Billerica, as the Golden Warriors avenged their lone defeat (5-3) of the season.

This also squared the seasonal series between the co-favorites at 1-1-1, with the possibly decisive fourth game set for February 17.

Hubbell was required to stop only 11 shots, but several of them were difficult saves as Dave posted his third shutout and lowered his league-leading goals-allowed average to 2.00.

Younger brother Ken Hubbell gave the elder statesman of the family the only goal he needed at 2:16 of the first period.

Ken collaborated with linemates Cal Smith and Ed Flannery on the play, taking a Flannery pass from the right faceoff circle and lifting a quick wrist shot over the left shoulder of Billerica netminder John McLaughlin.

Senior defenseman Mike Murnane, with wife and son in attendance as usual, upped the lead to 2-0 at 6:32 of the second session.

Smith fed Mike at the Indians' blue line, and Murnane circled behind the Billerica net to jam the puck home off McLaughlin's stick.

Bob Farnham and Scott Seero got it together for Andover's third goal at 1:46 of the finale.

Seero won a faceoff draw to McLaughlin's left, and the puck slid directly to Farnham in the slot. A flick of the stick and the puck was nestled behind the Billerica goalie to complete the scoring.

The Indians' best chances came in the final period, and Hubbell received some divine guidance when a Billy Russell shot from in tight clanged off the post.

Andover finished with a 20-11 shooting edge. McLaughlin made

17. saves, but the three that travelled past him were the ones that hurt.

Andover 7, Austin Prep 2 - The Golden Warriors unlimbered their shooting irons against lowly Austin, striking for three goals in the first and third frames and one in the middle canto.

Once again Ken Hubbell lit the red lamp first, thanks to the skate of Austin defenseman Fred Nelson. Nelson's skate deflected the puck right to Hubbell, who responded with a short backhand high into the net.

Ed Flannery and Cal Smith collected the first of Andover's 12 assists during the productive afternoon.

The Cougars pulled into a 1-1 tie at 3:59 of the first period, when Burlington's Steve Swanson stuffed a rebound through Dave Hubbell's pads.

Flannery retaliated at 6:37, putting AHS in the driver's seat for good with a stuff shot after the puck bounced out of goalie Paul Grasewicz' glove during a scramble near the crease.

Cal Smith and Ken Hubbell garnered assists as the second line continued to lead the way.

Seven seconds after the ensuing faceoff, 6:44 to be exact, Ken Hubbell made it 3-1 with his second goal of the game and eighth on the season.

Smith and Flannery kept the magic going with assists, as Hubbell tipped a perfect across-the-goalmouth pass behind Grasewicz.

Bob Farnham inserted the first line into the scoring act at 0:42 of the second period, padding the cushion to 4-1 on a breakaway.

Scott Inman sent Farnham in alone, and he slipped home a backhand from a near-impossible angle almost parallel to the net.

Austin's Charlie Antetomaso cut the deficit to 4-2 at 4:03 of the same frame, snapping a 40-foot wrist shot through a crowd and over Dave Hubbell's right shoulder during a Cougars' powerplay.

Midway through the period Murnane escaped on a patented rush, but after faking the goalie to his knees Mike hit the side of the net with his shot.

Dave Hubbell produced the game's best save two minutes later, blocking a point-blank powerplay wrist shot by Swanson.

The Golden Warriors wrapped things up with three unanswered goals in the third period.

Senior defenseman John "Bean" Christopher drove a 40-foot powerplay slapshot through Grasewicz' legs at the 1:46 mark.

Rear-guard Bob Driscoll and Scott Seero collected assists on the goal, which appeared to glance off Scott Inman's leg on the way to the cage.

Murnane drilled a 45-foot slapshot home at 6:05, making it 6-2 with his fifth seasonal goal. Seero registered his 24th point with the only assist.

Bob Farnham's second red-lighter of the game and 10th for the campaign closed the barrage at 7:57.

The elusive winger pocketed a rebound of a Murnane slapshot, just as Austin defenseman Fred Nelson sent him sprawling in the crease.

In a real rarity, Andover held Austin without a shot on goal in the final period.

Sophomore Steve Fabiani played the final few minutes in the AHS net, and while he gloved a few shots that went wide, he never actually had to make a save.

Andover finished with a 23-17 shooting spread. Grasewicz kicked aside 16 shots and Hubbell steered away 15.

Selectmen

1. Do we want industry in general? As a Board we are carrying out the Town's policy, since the Arkwright - Boston land has been zoned for industry. We believe a proposed industry has to meet or exceed zoning requirements, be stable, be in the long term best interests of the Town, and has to be economically prudent.

2. Conservation? We are unanimous in the view that the riverbank should be protected. We are in the process of negotiation; as soon as we have anything to report we will discuss it with you.

3. Future Use of Remaining Land: In this regard we are investigating the future use of the land. Until a final agreement is executed between H/P and A-B we cannot comment on this. We have asked for a copy of the agreed-upon conditions concerning future use of the remaining A-B land. As soon as that is received we will discuss it with you.

4. Piece of Land for Public Service: The Selectmen prefer that requests for gifts of land from Arkwright-Boston be based on explicit, concrete municipal needs arising immediately from the industrial park development.

We would welcome the Fin Com's specific suggestions as to what facilities on River Road would be required. Our own investigations do not see a need for either a Fire Station or Police Sub Station at the site. We are pursuing certain area recreational needs in conjunction with our negotiations concerning the riverfront.

5. "2/3 Issue": The conditions prevalent for this proposition are different than for the previous vote because we now have a real candidate for Town Meeting to consider. The Selectmen agree, however, that some final checks must be made by the Selectmen before authorization for sewer construction will be undertaken. Therefore, we will recommend to Town Meeting that the sewer be authorized subject to final approval of a majority of Selectmen. We would consider including in our motion safeguards from a financial point of view which the Finance Committee feels are appropriate.

6. Lawrence Agreement: We respectfully disagree with the view of the FinCom that Lawrence pay for a portion of the sewer and easements, since our investigation shows that Lawrence gets no benefit. Once it has been decided that a sewer connection is necessary to develop the industrial land, all savings accrue to Andover via this route versus the all-Andover alternate. We have made no commitment with the City of Lawrence in regard to any other future projects having a financial impact on the Town. We are presently negotiating a definite contract with the City of Lawrence, hopefully to be completed by Town Meeting.

7. Donation of Land/Payment of Engineering for River Road/Underwriting of Bond/etc.: On a number of elements such as this, we are glad to get the FinCom's views, but taken as a whole this is part of a negotiation in which we are involved; therefore we desire not to discuss this publicly. The final answers will be implicit in the presentation of ultimate return on investment which the FinCom and Town will pass on at Town Meeting.

8. Legal Evidence that H/P is coming to Town: This concern is covered if Selectmen are given final authority by Town Meeting.

9. Scope of Sewer: The appropriation to be requested from Town Meeting will not include any expenditure for laterals; and Selectmen are not making any commitments to A-B or H/P regarding future laterals.

Bantams Split Pair On Weekend

The well-travelled Andover Bantam 'A' hockey team, playing super since its slow start, split a pair of weekend games to bring its complete seasonal record to 8-6-0.

Coach Dick Neal's sextet, winners of eight of their last 10 games, began with a 4-2 victory over Concord, N. H. at the Phillips Academy Rink last Saturday night.

On Sunday morning the story was slightly different, as a strong Pittsfield aggregation pinned a 7-2 defeat on Andover at the Phillips facility.

A scheduled game at Worcester last Friday night was postponed indefinitely because of water leakage problems at the down-state rink.

Concord jumped out to a 1-0 lead after the opening period of their game, netting the first goal at 3:48.

Tim Tanner came back to knot the count 1-1 at 3:24 of the second session, converting a set-up pass from John Fabiani.

The New Hampshire visitors regained a 2-1 edge at 9:50, but 43 seconds later Chuck Redman tied it 2-2 for Andover by scoring his sixth goal during a scramble at the Concord net.

Lee Apgar and John Lyons picked up assists on Redman's tally.

Andover dominated the third period, and the high-scoring "Pony Line" got a piece of the action at the 6:09 mark.

Alternate Capt. Thom Lawler and Mark "Sparky" Farnham escaped on a 2-on-1 breakaway, and some crisp passing set Lawler up for his 12th red-lighter and the eventual game-winner.

Rich Daly's ninth goal added the needed insurance at 8:05. Tim Tanner and John Fabiani garnered the assists.

Pittsfield had too much firepower for Andover, although the local entry stayed with the visitors for better than one period and enjoyed a 2-1 lead before the roof caved in.

Pittsfield broke the scoreless deadlock at 5:18 of the first frame, but Tim Tanner retaliated for Andover with his seventh seasonal goal at 11:11. Mike Cullinan and John Fabiani chalked up the assists.

Mark Farnham propelled Andover into a 2-1 lead at 48 seconds of the middle stanza, collaborating with linemate Thom Lawler for Sparky's 12th goal.

Pittsfield completely dominated the remainder of the game, however, pouring in three goals at 2:29, 6:39 and 9:41 of the second period for a 4-2 advantage.

The visitors added a trio of third period scores at 0:15, 5:10 and 11:41 to win going away.

Andover's highly-productive first line continues to set a torrid scoring pace through the team's first 14 games.

The trio has combined for 37 goals and 47 assists for 84 points. Lawler is tops with 29 markers, Capt. Alan Kurth has 28 and Farnham boasts 27 on that "Pony Line."

Andover continues its busy schedule this weekend with three more games on the agenda.

Tomorrow night the bantams host Springfield for an 8 p.m. game at Phillips Academy.

Saturday evening at 6 p.m. the Manchester, N. H. bantams will invade the P.A. Rink for another home game, and on Sunday at 12 noon the locals will journey to Bowdoin College to face Brunswick, Me.

Redwings Outplay Sabres

The Redwings knocked the Sabres from the heights of the unbeaten on two (2) goals by Paul Farrington with assists going to Alan Judkins, Scott Keller and Phil Weeks in the Sunday Intramural Hockey league.

The final score was 2 to 0 as Redwing goalie Andy Powell stopped the Sabres cold. Seals goalie David Hill also had a shutout as his team beat the Northstars 3 to 0. Mark Hinds was the big gun for the Seals with a goal and an assist. The other goals were scored by Jonathan Blake and Tom Fabiani on passes from Tom Edmonds and Steve Doherty.

In the third game the Bruins and Blackhawks played to a 3 to 3 tie. Steve Luby gave the Blackhawks an early lead on an unassisted goal. Jim Stamas made it 2 to 0 on a pass from Peter Chiklis. Then the Bruins scored three quick ones, Ken Gegan from Kevin Hanawalt, Steve Morin from Ken Gegan and finally Jim Shalhoup from Tony Sanchez. Peter Chiklis was unassisted when he tied the game for the Blackhawks a few minutes later.

The Sunday Morning Intramural League finds the Sabres in first place with 10 points followed closely by the Bruins and Seals each with 8 points. The big game this Sunday at the P.A. rink is at 6:45 a.m. with the Sabres and Seals shooting for first place. At 5:45 a.m. the Northstars meet the Blackhawks while the 8 a.m. game finds the Bruins and Redwings going at each other.

Callaghan Rescues West A

By Rick Harrison
Dave Callaghan calmly swished a foul shot in the opening minute of a sudden-death overtime period, rescuing a come-from-behind 15-14 victory for West Parish A in its first-place showdown battle against St. Robert's A in the Intermediate Division of the Andover Church Basketball League.

Callaghan's clutch free throw ended one of the division's best and most exciting games in many seasons.

Both teams entered the contest with identical 5-0 records, and the pair have been battling for supremacy of the league for the past three years.

For three-time defending champion West A, it marked the 99th win in 104 games over a six-year period.

The game was tied 4-4 after one quarter, 7-7 at the half, 9-9 after three stanzas and 14-14 at the conclusion of regulation time.

Neither club was able to score in the first two-minute overtime, and then Callaghan sunk his charity toss after both teams had missed shots in the sudden-death period.

At the start of the fourth quarter St. Robert's pulled out to a 14-9 lead by reeling off five unanswered points. The tough defense kept West A from penetrating until there were less than two minutes left.

At this point Dave Alexander hit a 10-foot set shot to make it 14-11. Brian Bronson followed moments later with a base-line set for a 14-13 count, and Alexander added the all-important tying free throw during the final 30 seconds.

Both clubs had shots bounce off the rim in the first overtime, and then Callaghan ended the game abruptly.

Dave Callaghan was the high scorer for West A with 6 points. Steve Serley netted 4 points, Dave Alexander 3 and Brian Bronson 2 points.

Other standouts included Jim Wetterberg, Dave Hill and Jon Crush.

T. J. Caveney and A. J. DeFusco pumped in 4 points each for tough-luck St. Robert's A. Single buckets were added by Mike Carroll, Eddie Collins and Kevin Fogarty.

Chipping in with good all-around performances were Chris Fortune, Todd Orlando, John McNamara and Ben Bram.

St. Robert's B maintained its hold on third place, boosting its record to 5-2 with an 18-12 conquest of West Parish B.

The winners broke the game open by out-scoring WestB 6-0 in the third quarter.

Joe Koravos led the offense with 7 points. Carmen Frederico tossed in 4 points, Rich Marciano 3 and single baskets were chalked up by Mike Chase and Jeff Nicastro of St. Robert's B.

Billy Hall guided the West B attack with 6 points. Tim Sweeney added 4 points and Kevin Lafferty sunk a pair of free throws in the final quarter when a West B rally fell short.

Other sparkplugs in a losing

GOING FOR TWO. Action was fast and furious Monday night in the church basketball league as West Parish A took a 15-14 win over St. Robert's to lead the intermediate division.

cause were Jeff Rosen, Paul Fitzpatrick and Scott Donahue.

St. Augustine B(4-2) continued to pile up the points, stampeding over Free Church, 45-0.

Dave Farrell struck for a new single-game seasonal high when he poured through 27 points.

Tom Curtin stuffed 8 points, Steve Moriarty canned 6 points and other two-pointers were registered by Charlie Haseltine and Steve Parker.

Bob Owelang, Paul Sirois and Tom Walsh also starred for the winners.

Hustling their hearts out for Free were Mike King, Doug Kirkland and Jimmy Cunningham.

St. Augustine A kept its fifth place standing with a 19-6 conquest of St. Robert's C.

Jim Arnold was the big gun once again for the victors with 9 points. Charlie Wiseman scooped in 6 points and Mark Bedell netted 4 markers. Ample support was provided by Terry Reilly, Ed Reming, Tommy Busta and Doug Royal.

Steve Rathbun hit the strings for 4 points, while Frank Griggs connected in the second quarter for St. Robert's C.

Contributing fine floor games in a losing cause were Jim Rathbun, Tom Daly, Alex Lano, Mike Murray and Don McEvoy.

South A showed sister-club South B a thing or two, posting a 12-4 triumph in their intra-church struggle.

Marc Weiner led the South A attack with 6 points. Lefty Will Washburn slipped in 4 points and Rusty Serbagi added 2 markers.

Steve Landry and Dave Oldaker were other standouts.

Bob Kilgo banked in a first quarter basket for South B, and Rich Caughey completed their scoring with a solo bucket in the third frame.

John Sagaser, Jeff Hudgins and Phil Weeks excelled for South B.

Tax Rates And Industry

Tax rates seemed to get bandied about pretty well this time of year, not just in Andover, but in almost every community in the Commonwealth.

One figure which aroused a good portion of the community this past week was projection that Andover's tax rate could reach the $80 plateau by 1980. The figure was part of projection made by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin in presenting figures dealing with the West Andover industrial project and its incumbent necessity of providing a sewer line to the area.

That $80 figure may or may not be facetious.

The manager, a professional municipal administrator, was using a guideline for projection purposes only.

As seers, or forecasters of municipal financial fortunes, Austin or any town-city administrator would be quick to admit their figures are subject to drastic adjustment as times dictate.

Hopefully Andover will not aim toward the $80 plateau a few years hence, but it is food for thought.

The figures are for consideration as municipal boards, particularly the selectmen and finance committee bicker over the providing of the trunk sewer line to West Andover for the Hewlett-Packard Co., or Arkwright Insurance Co., the owners of the industrial property and the town's seventh highest taxpayer.

The FinCom continues to raise questions which border on considering the net worth of Hewlett-Packard or the Arkwright development in West Andover.

We insist the value of the running of the sewer line to the West Andover industrial park will be among Andover's most worthwhile investments.

Hewlett-Packard will be the forerunner of additional development which will further enhance Andover's tax base.

As additional food for thought, thinking a bit about that $80 tax rate forecast, we shudder to think what it could be without some industrial benefits.

We subscribe also to the thoughts of Chairman Robert A. Watters who, reflecting on his ten years as a member of the town's top elective agency, notes that even full development the West Andover industrial area, still leaves Andover with a unique balance of being a community with 75 per cent ratio of desirable residential area.

Gratifying

Somewhat soothing is the reports emanating from the school department these days.

As recently as early this week, the administrators were wrestling with budget figures to get the total budget request to be presented to town meeting to within the six per cent increase guideline established by the school committee.

As of Tuesday of this week, the budgetary work had shown the administration was within $76,252 of the goal.

Reluctantly admitting that annual budgetary increases are a way of life these days, it is refreshing to know that efforts are being made to minimize the jolt when it finally arrives at town meeting time.

Increases are faced with the realization that costs have gone up despite efforts to hold the line. Some areas of municipal budgets contain automatic increases built in from prior years.

That the school department set goals and then has continued to work to meet that standard is commendable.

It indicates that maybe they are on our side after all - our side being the providers of the ultimate request for $12,197,196.

Good Work

We feel rather proud of a group of youngsters who know quite a bit about their home town these days.

A group of students from St. Augustine's school have been busy these past several weeks tracing the town's history, as a part of a special school project.

Thorough in their research, the group put together an historical exhibit last Thursday night, which proved to be not just interesting, but quite enlightening to new and older residents of the community.

Modern educational methods often place emphasis on the most sophisticated of learning procedures. We always subscribe to the theory that as long as we have to work at something it might just as well be fun doing it.

This seemed to be the thought behind the particular project.

Not only was task before the youngsters educational, it was entertaining as well.

Through it all, they learned, and we might add, so did those providing sources of information as well.

It was a well worthwhile project and merits the "well done" award presentation to our future community leaders.

Off The Top Of The Desk

The pendulum always seems to make the full swing.

Remember a few years ago when great concern was expressed due to the low water marks in community reservoirs?

Nature has seen to it that the condition has been corrected for a while at least.

In Andover, Haggetts has a good level, probably the highest in years, and Lake Cochichewick in North Andover seems to be at an equally high level.

During the week, announcement was made that the huge Quabbin Reservoir was also at its highest level ever, thanks to an abundant rainfall and winter runoff.

In Andover, the Haggetts height is a welcome sight in view of the well-behind-schedule of the new treatment plant.

Among the new modes of vacation living is the rental of campers in southern climes.

We heard of a family impressed with the thought of renting a camper and travelling during their winter vacation to various spots in Florida.

A check with the rental agencies revealed all the units booked for the winter months, thus a change in plans.

Despite the alternating temperatures, ice fishing has proven safe and rewarding these past few weeks.

One young gent in North Andover, reported taking a good sized pickerel and bass in a short period of time on Lake Cochichewick Saturday morning.

Arthur Fiedler can certainly command the best from his Boston Pops orchestra members.

Viewing their performance on Channel two Sunday night, one had to be impressed with the lad who produces a myriad of sound accompaniments.

During "Ops Hoedown," there was a call for him to cut loose with a blank pistol at one point.

The TV camera focused on the attentiveness with which he followed the music until his singular, significant part came in, at which point with great gusto he arose and fired right on cue.

Tom Johnson of the Bruins this week faced the usual means of correction of problems on a professional sports team.

Since the Bruins weren't winning, and fans were getting on the team, only one way was apparent for correction - fire the coach.

No doubt, the Bruins will be winning once again under taskmaster and disciplinarian Bep Guidolin.

The Registry of Motor Vehicles informs that light up time for February is 5:15 through the middle of the month and increasing gradually to 5:30 at the end of the month.

Light up time is sunset plus 15 minutes, at which time headlights must be on.

We don't often get a direct line on some of these professional athletes or coaches, but had a bit of a break on the appointment of Bep Guidolin to the Bruins from a young man who has had personal experience with the new Bruins mentor.

Bill Finneran, Jr., personally and editorially relative in a visit to the office Tuesday, commented that Guidolin was "tough and makes you work." The young man has attended the Bobby Orr hockey camp in Canada the past two summers where Guidolin is on the staff.

From reports out of practice camps, the young North Andover hockey enthusiast has a good line on the new coach of the Bruins.

Bill's brother, Dan, also an attendant at the ORR camp concurs with the judgment.

Worship Schedule Changed

The 262nd Annual Meeting of South Church in Andover was held on Jan. 31, at which time new budgets for Operation and Outreach were adopted for 1973; and officers and members of boards and committees were elected.

Among the decisions made over and above the regular continuance of supported activity locally and afar was the establishment of an Emergency Fund to be operated under the Board of World Service. The Fund will serve to help the church to make immediate response to need occasioned by natural or other disaster anywhere in the world.

A change in Worship and Church School hours was voted upon and determined to be: Regular Worship Service at 10:30 a.m. with Church School for Crib Room through Grade 6 at the same hour, and Informal Worship at 9:15 a.m. There will be a coffee hour between services. This new schedule will begin on Sunday, Feb. 11.

Seek Funds To Renovate Music Hall

A group of people representing various towns in the Greater Lawrence area met Tuesday evening at Christ Presbyterian Church in order to launch a community project to raise funds to refurbish and renovate the Methuen Memorial Music Hall.

Mrs. Charles Stahle, Chairman and Mrs. Joseph Batal, Co-chairman announced plans for a "Maifest" (May Festival) to be sponsored by the Board of Trustees of the Organ Hall to be held on May 18th at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall. The evening will begin at 8:30 with a Pop Concert to be presented by George Faxon, Organist at Trinity Church, Copley Square, Boston and head of the Organ Department at Boston University. May wine and light refreshments will be served by a corps of waitresses in Bavarian costume under the direction of Miss Emily Heald, hospitality chairman. Everett G. Wagner will assist.

The Shriners German Band of Temple Bektash will play for dancing following the concert. The Organ Hall will be arranged in Pop Concert style under the direction of William Zurwell, Operational Committee Chairman and Mrs. Ralph Hill will supervise building decor. The final event of the evening will be a Coffee Hour at 11:00 p.m. with Mrs. Thomas Hadfield in charge.

The following committee chairmen volunteered their services at the meeting: treasurer, George Newall, tickets and program, Mrs. Frederic L. Sjostrom; posters and cover design, Mrs. George G. Dinsmore and Mrs. Robert D. Knapp; publicity, Mrs. Everett G. Wagner, steering committee members include: Dr. Nina Scarito, Mrs. Cornelius Banta, Miss Margot Warner, Miss Geraldine Lagammo, Mr. David Coffman, Mr. Robert Borowski, Dr. Hans Sidon.

The next meeting of the "Maifest" Committee will be held on Feb. 13 at 8 p.m. in the Haverhill Street, Methuen Branch of the Bay State National Bank.

Academy Donates Land

A considerable gift of land voted by the Trustees of Phillips Academy this past weekend will increase and round out the boundaries of the Charles W. Ward Reservation, and substantially increase the green belt area along Route 125.

The gift of 79.18 acres was transferred to the Trustees of Reservations with only one stipulation - that the land will revert to the Academy if it is used "for any purpose other than the preservation of open areas and recreational areas for the benefit of the general public," or made unavailable to the Academy's students.

Behind the gift is the story of a bargain and a challenge initiated by the late headmaster of Phillips Academy, John Mason Kemper, in 1967. Over the past five years, that bargain has resulted in the addition of 214 acres to the Ward Reservation off Prospect Road - which encompasses the highest land in Essex County, Holt Hill, topped by a fire lookout tower, Shrub Hill and part of Boston Hill.

Dr. John Kimball, 89 Prospect Road, a member of the Trustees of Reservations and supervisor of the Ward Reservation, approached Kemper in 1967 to see if Phillips Academy would consider deeding over the 64 acres of land it owned along Route 125, adjacent to the reservation. Kimball, an assistant professor at Tufts University, is a former member of the Phillips Academy faculty. He is the grandson of Mrs. Charles Ward, who set the reservation aside in 1940, in memory of her husband.

"Mr. Kemper struck a hard bargain with me," Kimball recalled. "He said the academy would give the 64 acres to the reservation if we could first raise twice that amount of land from other sources. That meant we had 128 acres to raise."

Over the next few years, the Trustees of Reservations, a charitable corporation formed in 1891 for conservation purposes, was able to pick up several parcels of adjacent land with money the Trustees raised locally and regionally. A large parcel was given by the heirs of Mrs. Charles Ward. By last September, the Trustees had acquired 135 acres, more than enough to come back to the Phillips Trustees for their part of the bargain.

A bonus was waiting for them. Phillips Academy in the meantime had been able to buy a 14.5 acre parcel of private land lying within the boundaries of the reservation, which they added to the original 64 acres agreed upon.

The result of the five year challenge - the Ward Reservation now has 560 acres of wooded hills and open fields in Andover and North Andover for public enjoyment, snowshoeing and cross-country skiing.

Kimball said the gift represented the completion of a long standing project. "Naturally I am delighted and grateful. This will round out the boundaries with still undeveloped land, provide buffer zones for the deeper areas of the reservation, and keep Route 125 as an attractive stretch of highway that will always be protected."

Fred Stott, Secretary of Phillips Academy, told the TOWNSMAN "The trustees of Phillips Academy are very pleased to see the Ward Reservation complete their part of the agreement, so that by addition of the Phillips Academy land to it, the green belt area in the town is substantially increased."

Most popular feature of the Ward Reservation is the Bog Nature Trail, a remarkable botanical and geological phenomenon created by the retreat of the last glacier over 10,000 years ago. The boardwalked trail through the bog, where varieties of trees, plants and points of special interest are marked, was developed in 1967-68 by Kimball, with the aid and assistance of biology students from Phillips Academy.

The Trustees of Reservations preserve and maintain 53 places of natural and historic beauty in the Commonwealth. The privately administered, non-profit corporation relies for support entirely on voluntary subscriptions, income endowment and limited admissions fees at a few of its best-known reservations. The reservations total 11,000 acres in the Berkshires, Cape Cod, Martha's Vineyard, and other areas. Crane's Beach is the best known of the reservations in this region.

Employment Levels Seem Unchanged

Unemployment levels in Massachusetts remained essentially unchanged from November to December, Richard C. Gilliland, Director of the Division of Employment Security, reported today.

The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for Massachusetts in December was 7.1 percent, not significantly different from November's 7.0 percent or the December 1971 rate of 7.2 percent. Massachusetts unemployment continues to run substantially above the national rate which decreased from 6.0 percent in December 1971 to 5.2 percent in December 1972.

For the first time since September 1969, both the number of unemployed and the unemployment rate were below those of the previous year. While the decrease in unemployment was small, it was the first 12-month period in more than three years in which economic growth in Massachusetts was sufficient to stabilize the unemployment rate.

December employment trends were dominated by a holiday rise in employment in wholesale and retail trade of 12,800. The overall gain in total employment in the month was 7700 and in nonmanufacturing employment 6900 as increases in Christmas trade were partly offset by seasonal layoffs in construction and certain service industries like landscape gardening, hotels, laundries, motion picture theatres and miscellaneous amusement services. The small number employed in agriculture further declined seasonally.

Manufacturing employment inched up as small but encouraging gains in durable goods manufacturing continued, with most of them in establishments making machinery and primary and fabricated metals. Nondurable goods, especially style-affected items like textiles, apparel, and shoes, declined by nearly offsetting numbers so that the overall increase in manufacturing from November to December was pared to 400. Over the past 12 months, however, more than 10,000 have been added to manufacturing payrolls, with most of them again in primary and fabricated metals and nonelectrical machinery.

Unemployment in the eight major metropolitan areas of the state varied slightly up or down in accordance with the character of the area economy. Unemployment in areas with substantial trading centers like Boston and Springfield-Chicopee-Holyoke declined seasonally although it edged up in Worcester because the area workforce increased a little more than did employment. Unemployment generally rose seasonally in areas where manufacturing, especially nondurables, dominates as in Fall River, Lawrence-Haverhill, New Bedford, Brockton. Most areas had encouraging lower unemployment rates than they had a year earlier except for Boston where the rate was 5.6 percent as compared with 5.5 percent in December 1971.

Assigned To Consumer Protection Division

Atty. John F. McGarry

Attorney General Robert H. Quinn has announced the appointment of John F. McGarry of Andover to the regional office of the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division located at 200 Essex St., Lawrence.

Atty. McGarry will be responsible for prosecuting those merchants who have allegedly violated the Massachusetts Consumer Protection Act. In 1969, the Massachusetts Department of the Attorney General filed the Consumer Protection Act (Chapter 93A of the General Laws) which became landmark legislation outlawing fraudulent advertising, selling and credit methods, as well as providing legal recourse against them.

The consumer Protection Division (CPD) is one of the 13 divisions of the Attorney General's office, and perhaps is one of its busiest. Chief is David S. Nelson, whose staff began with one State House office four years ago.

In its first year of operation, 1200 cases were handled.

It now handles 35,000 complaints a year, and is growing all the time. Attorney General Robert H. Quinn decided to regionalize the CPD, for better service, and organized eight offices throughout the state. Regional staffs handle complaints of their areas, but have full access to the main Boston office, its records, resources and investigators.

The CPD office at 200 Essex St., Lawrence, serves the Greater Lowell, Greater Lawrence, Greater Haverhill area to the sea, and south from Burlington to Peabody. There is no charge for the service, and Attorney McGarry encourages inquiries.

The Lawrence office has received more than 600 consumer complaints since it opened last July, and they are getting busier everyday as more people realize that the office is there.

Attorney McGarry, who spent the last two years specializing in labor and constitutional law in the Attorney General's office, is now doing what he loves best: consumer affairs.

His primary job at the Lawrence office will be to supervise the investigations of consumer complaints, subpoena merchants for and conduct hearings into alleged unlawful practices and to bring court actions where necessary.

The Lawrence office is staffed by investigators Mark Gauthier, Laurence Rossi, a third year law student who is receiving academic credit for his work, Barbara Willey, Anthony Tarquinio and John Catania, who are volunteers. Mrs. Kathy Schroeder is the secretary.

McGarry's office has printed forms which the consumers can complete, listing information relating to the complaint. These complaint forms may be obtained by calling the office, or by writing the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, 200 Essex St., Lawrence, 01840. Copies of any contracts, bills of sale, guarantees or other pertinent papers should be attached.

The case is then assigned to one of the investigators, who immediately contacts the business involved. If the business fails or refuses to cooperate in reaching a solution, then Assistant Attorney General McGarry has the authority to seek a judgement in Superior Court against the business.

Attorney McGarry resides with his wife, Patricia, at 22 Arundel St., Andover.

Homemaker Of Tomorrow

Andover High School's 1973 Homemaker of Tomorrow is Sandra Lee Webb, and there is more than the usual satisfaction and congratulations at the high school over the honor that places Sandy in competition for state and national scholarship awards from General Mills.

Sandy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Webb, 65 Woburn St., won the school-wide honor by scoring highest of the boys and girls who took a written examination from the company last December. But homemaking teacher Mrs. Marion Davis says that anyone in the school could have told you, without the examination, that Sandy should win the award.

"She is really following through with home economics. She has worked as a dietary assistant at local nursing homes and now at Lawrence General Hospital. She has taken a course at the Voke School in cake decorating, and is seriously interested in following dietetics as a career."

"She has baked more cakes in the high school for more people and more occasions - personal cakes and for groups - than I could name. She baked one last weekend for my husband and me on our anniversary, and just did one for a baby shower students held for a senior girl who has been married, and just left to have a baby. I guess that's a first here."

Mrs. Davis said she would have to rank Sandra Webb as matching the best professional in the area, when it comes to cake decoration.

The Betty Crocker State Homemaker of Tomorrow will be chosen from all school winners in the state in judging centering on the December test. State winner will receive a $1,500 scholarship, and a second place $500 scholarship.

The award gives special pleasure to Sandy's teachers. Mrs. Davis' final comment: "Sometimes you have an excellent student. But every once in a while you have one who has this, and excellent judgment too. Sandy has more common sense than any young lady I know."

Miriam Putnam

Memorial Hall Library is proud to announce that Miss Miriam Putnam, former Director of the library from 1939-1967, will speak at the library on Feb. 13. An esteemed librarian and a beloved Andover resident, Miss Putnam returns to the library to present "An Experience in a Black College", a program which will highlight her employment since leaving Memorial Hall Library. During these last five years, Miss Putnam has been Assistant Librarian of the Savery Library at Talladega College, Talladega, Alabama. She will also speak of the plans which she has for the future. In April this year, Miss Putnam will attend Manchester College in Oxford, England for the summer term. She will work part-time in the college library and will attend lectures. Also of interest to many local residents is the visit to Sheila Taylor, an English woman, who is presently Librarian of the Hull Technical College, Hull, Yorkshire. Miss Taylor was on the staff of Memorial Hall Library, 1954-1955. Past and present friends should be glad for this opportunity to talk with Miss Putnam again. The time and date is Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. on February 13.

John French is a tall, craggy Irishman with a talent for creating elegant birds, flowers, plates, vases, and other items of beauty in earthenware. He teaches ceramics in the Monument Regional High School, Great Barrington, Mass., and has his own studio in his home in Stockbridge. Primm French is an outgoing, exciting artist and homemaker, who is also Head of the Art Department at the Monument Regional High School. She paints in oils and watercolor, and is skilled in many other art media. Mr. and Mrs. French will be at Memorial Hall Library for the fifth creativity session on February 21. The title for the program is "And Stay With It", which implies the program will cover ways to keep older children and youth interested in being creative. The program will begin at 8 p.m. Everyone welcome.

Health and Welfare

Another important meeting of

Memorial Hall Library

interest to Andover residents and residents from near-by communities, as well, is to be held on February 22. On that evening at 8 p.m., Dr. Nina Scarito, Lawrence obstetrician and gynecologist, will talk on the subject "Family Planning". In view of the recent Supreme Court decision on abortion, this meeting should be very informative, especially to young couples who wish to regulate the size of their family. This program is the second in our series of Community Health and Welfare meetings. It will begin at 8 p.m.

Siegfried

The third opera in Wagner's Ring will be played and discussed at the next meeting of the Library Opera Club. The group will meet at the home of Mrs. Percy Crosby, 21 Alderbrook Road, Andover at 8 p.m. on February 15. Anyone may attend these evenings for opera lovers.

Sunday Film

The Humphrey Bogart film to be shown on February 11 will be "The Harder They Fall" and it will begin at 2 p.m. at the West Elementary School. There will be a charge of fifty cents.

Great Books

The Great Books Discussion Group will meet on February 13 in the Print Room at Memorial Hall Library at 7:30. These book discussions are open to anyone in Andover and neighboring communities who likes to talk about the books they read. On Tuesday, February 13 the members will talk about selections from Gullivers Travels. The selections are: A Voyage to Lilliput, A Voyage to Brobdingnag, and a Voyage to the Country of the Houyhnhnms.

Children's Room

Thursday, Feb. 8, 3:45 - Magnificent Music. This week we are listening to the story and music from the Nutcracker.

Friday, Feb. 9, 3:45 - VIBOR: This week we are planning great things.

Saturday, Feb. 10, 10:11:30 - Chess, come and learn by playing.

Saturday, Feb. 10, 2:00 - Bind-a-book: There is still time to come and help write the book that will be bound.

Tuesday, February 13, 6:15 - Pajama Party; Story hour for kids three and a half to five years old.

Wednesday, February 14, 6:15 - Trumpet of the Swan to be read aloud. Hot chocolate will be served.

Don Anderson Pope received academic honors for the Fall Semester at Pomfret School, Pomfret, CT. A senior, Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman B. Pope, 41 Cheever Circle, Andover.

Story Hour

On Sunday, Feb. 17, the last "live" story hour will be held at the Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary in Topsfield. These winter afternoon programs for children five to eight years old are held at the Sanctuary's Barn from 3 to 4 p.m. and consist of two or three animal stories read by Old Mother West Wind, a snack of juice and cookies, and a live animal presented at close range.

There is a small fee for each participant (50¢). Older brothers and sisters and parents are welcome to sit in the audience for free.

Three ways to make it big.

STATION WAGON

Frankly, our station wagon is colossal.

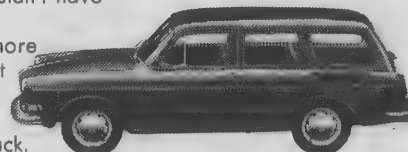

Inside, there's almost twice the cargo space of average wagons, and plenty of horsepower.

Even the outside is colossal—because it's small. So it fits where full-size wagons can't. In Volkswagen-size parking spots.

Some big sedan owners wouldn't have a Squareback.

Although it has about 50% more luggage room than the biggest sedan, gets 24 mpg, boasts electronic fuel injection and front disc brakes, there's one drawback.

It doesn't cost very much.

VOLKSWAGEN SQUAREBACK

412 WAGON

With many luxury wagons extras cost extra. Not so with the 412 luxury wagon. Radial tires, front disc brakes, fully automatic transmission, electronic fuel injection—all standard equipment. And how many wagons can you think of that are this big on quality, but this small on price? We can only think of three.

Few things in life work as well as a Volkswagen.

There is a Covered Wagon Round-Up all this month at Park-Hegarty Volkswagen, Inc. Stop in during the month of February and check the Wagon Train.

Sew your way into spring... or any other season! It is easier than you think when you have professional sewing instruction at Polly's Sewing Studio, 66 Main Street in the Andover Co-op Building. These girls have made everything they are wearing.

Pauline Stuart, proprietor of Polly's Sewing Studio, is an experienced seamstress and had her own dressmaking business in Woburn for many years. In addition, she is a former employee of Singer and is well qualified in all phases of modern sewing teaching methods. Her shop is equipped with the latest model Singer Sewing Machines mounted on individual sewing tables (classroom model); all attachments; cutting board; iron; etc. and is located in spacious, sunny quarters on the second floor away from traffic and distractions. Ample parking is available in the Co-op lot (rear).

At Polly's, individual instruction is offered at all times. You may choose any fabric, any pattern. Polly offers advice on fabric selection and arranges discounts on fabrics for students. She also features new methods of sewing knit fabrics, on your own machine; it is called

"Stretch and Sew."

Sewing classes begin every six weeks and hours are arranged to suit you. Classes run for 6 weeks, in 3-hour sessions weekly, and include Adult Classes for beginners and advanced sewers; and Student Classes for beginners and advanced, ages 10-18, Saturdays only. Each class is limited to eight people to allow for individual instruction.

Polly also does dressmaking and alterations for ladies and children. Stop in any day, Tuesday - Saturday from 9:30 to 5:30, at 66 Main Street, Andover Co-op Building, or for information, call 475-8355.

Eric A. Schlott

Schlott In Presidential Classroom

Representing Andover at A Presidential Classroom for Young Americans will be Eric A. Schlott, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Albert Schlott, 31 Sunset Rock Road.

Eric, a student at Kimball Union Academy, will attend Class No. 3, from March 3 through March 10.

The Presidential Classrooms for Young Americans gives students the unique opportunity of confronting Senators, Congressmen, administration officials, military leaders, ambassadors and newsmen, as well as other students representing all 50 states the Territories and dependent schools of the armed forces overseas. The classes are set up so that each class represents a geographic cross section of students. The aim is a firsthand view of government in action. On-site briefings are held at actual sites of decision making in Boston - Capitol Hill, the White House and the Pentagon.

Now in its fifth year, the Presidential classroom was initiated from White House memorandums, and has brought over 5,000 students to Washington to participate in its programs of classes and evening discussions.

School Board

partly responsible; so is the evidence of veteran teacher who spoke Tuesday night to endorse the flexible classroom. But most important was probably the evidence that school policy has changed to meet many of the objections that some parents brought to the meetings of the past week. Much of the policy change was evidently by early fall, but came into the public awareness only with the crowded public meetings.

Superintendent Seifert stated Tuesday, with visual aids, that the school policy to help children become independent learners needs flexible learning environments, with some closed spaces in each flexible classroom, so that highly structured learning can go on. He stated that some students need more teacher assistance, and - a new note - that the schools will take advantage of differing teacher styles to match teachers, and value the highly structured teacher style, and personality, as best for some children to learn under.

Dr. Griggs had stated that he felt most students learned best in the traditional self-contained classroom, but with new methods and teacher-installed flexibility. Dr. Seifert countered, "most students. But what do you say to the parents of the other students."

Teachers who spoke Tuesday night, most of them veterans of the Andover system, took mostly a practical stance, in favoring opening up self-contained classrooms.

Teachers Mary Bartow, Alice Dunn, Margaret Calderwood, and Susan Wolman testified that flexible classrooms accommodating two or three teachers and their classes facilitate, as self-contained classrooms cannot, team teaching, student responsibility, sharing of resources and teacher specialties and the grouping and regrouping of students to meet individual children's needs. A seventh grade student, Amy Shertzer, accompanied Miss Wolman to the microphone for a poignant endorsement of learning at Bancroft. "I liked learning there. We were friends with our teachers. We respected our teachers. I thought junior high would be a challenge, but it's not the same. We learn better at Bancroft. We respect the teachers at the Junior high - but, well it's just a desk, at Junior high. At Bancroft we didn't have desks."

There seems to be more steam under the school program issue of effectiveness of the IMS individualized math program than open concept.

Louis Yelle, a West Elementary School parent, said he would bring test results to the Feb. 20 school committee discussion of IMS that showed it was working.

Committeeman Dr. Richard Katz urged the audience not to confuse the school's educational program with the open concept, which has to do with the physical setting.

"Bancroft was built after the new academic developments had begun, which most townspeople seemed to approve of. Bancroft was built because of the academic program, because educators thought the program, which is the same in all our schools, could be taught much better in a flexible environment.

West was built for the same reason, and now the teachers at Shawsheen and Doherty want the flexibility, and it looks like Sanborn teachers want it too, for the same educational program.

"I think the trouble stems from when West School opened, and the teachers and students moved into it without the system having experience in administering such a large elementary school. So we ran into some problems that were largely structural. Things are much improved now, but I think that's how the trouble about open concept started. Bancroft teachers and students seem pleased with open concept."

Housing for Doherty and Shawsheen students during the spring weeks of early renovation were discussed later in the meeting. Doherty and Shawsheen students will be housed in West and Bancroft Schools, respectively, during regular school hours, in separate classrooms with their own teachers, if the committee accepts the unanimous recommendation of Dr. Seifert and all elementary principals.

Jaycees Meet

The Andover Jaycees will meet Tuesday, Feb. 13 at 7:30 p.m. at Briarcliff, the K. of C. home on Osgood Street.

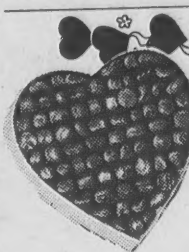

Candidates for public office in the March 5 town election have been invited to address the group and present their views.
